Facts to know

➤	The FIFA U-17 Women's World Cup is staged every two years.
➤	The first edition was held in New Zealand in 2008, the second in Trinidad & Tobago in 2010, the third in Azerbaijan 2012 and the fourth in Costa Rica in 2014 and the 5 th edition of the FIFA U-17 Women's World Cup took place in Jordan with the 6 th edition being held in Uruguay..
➤	Since the inaugural tournament in New Zealand in 2008, 160 matches have been hosted under the auspices of the U-17 FWWC.
➤	Japan has scored the most goals with 98, an impressive average of 3.8 goals per game.
➤	A total of 31 associations have taken part in the FIFA U-17 Women's World Cup to date.
➤	For six teams the 2018 event in Uruguay will be their sixth appearance and have therefore never missed a FIFA Women's U-17 World Cup: Canada, Germany, Ghana, Japan, Korea DPR, and New Zealand.
➤	Four out of the five tournaments have been won by Asian teams – Korea DPR won in 2008 and at the most recent event in 2016, Korea Republic in 2010, and Japan in 2014 the only non-Asian team to succeed was France in 2012.
➤	Korea DPR and Japan have each played three final matches, Korea DPR succeeding twice, against USA in 2008 and Japan in 2016 and Japan once in 2014 winning against Spain.
➤	Teams from the same confederation have met in two final matches, Japan against Korea Republic in the 2010 edition and Korea DPR played against Japan in 2016.
➤	In Costa Rica 2014 the final match was decided in regular time for the first time. Extra time was played in the final matches of both 2008 and 2010, the latter tournament also having to go to a penalty shoot-out. In the 2012 and 2016 editions there was no extra time as per the laws of the game and instead after draw stalemate the game was decided by penalty shoot-out.
➤	In Azerbaijan in 2012 Ghana was the first and so far only African team to reach the semi-finals (and third place).
➤	In all five previous editions the host nation teams have never managed to reach the second stage.
➤	Only one player has been present in three editions of the FIFA U-17 Women's World Cup. Ghana's Ellen Coleman played six matches in 2012, three matches in 2010 and in 2008 was part of Ghana's roster but did not play a single minute.
➤	The fastest goal in a FIFA U-17 Women's World Cup was scored after only 22 seconds by Nigeria's Soo Adegwagh in the match against Korea Republic in 2008.
➤	The upper age limit for all players is a maximum of 17 years by the end of the calendar year in which the competition is played. The lower age limit for all players is at least 15 years of age by the end of the calendar year in which the competition is played.

History

The first confederation to stage an age-group tournament for women was UEFA in 1997 with the European Women's U-19 Championship. In a move to further promote the women's game, FIFA followed suit with its own competition for young women. As was FIFA's intention, the event has encouraged member associations to develop women's football at youth level and to set up teams in younger age groups, including the U-13 and U-15 brackets. Moreover, the championship has also prompted the confederations to organise continental qualifying competitions.

Eleven years after China hosted the inaugural FIFA Women's World Cup in 1991, Canada provided the venue for the very first FIFA U-19 Women's World Championship, an event that brought together the world's top youth sides and proved a resounding success both on the pitch and at the turnstiles.

The tournament attracted no fewer than 295,133 spectators, an impressive average of 11,351 per game. Not surprisingly, the final drew the biggest crowd, as 47,784 fans flocked to Edmonton's Commonwealth Stadium to see the USA become the first side to claim the world youth crown.

Two years later it was Thailand's turn to stage the event in a 12-team tournament that generated an overall attendance figure of 288,324. In 2006, the tournament was held in Russia when the age limit was raised from 19 to 20 years of age, paving the way for a new competition: the FIFA U-17 Women's World Cup, bringing women's youth football in line with its male counterparts.

The all-new women's world youth competition, the FIFA U-17 Women's World Cup, was launched in New Zealand in 2008 and was followed by the hosts Trinidad & Tobago in 2010, Azerbaijan in 2012, Costa Rica in 2014 and Jordan in 2016. Sixteen teams take part in the event playing a total of 32 matches.

Trophy

Designer	Thomas Fattorini Ltd, Birmingham, UK Rebecca Cusack
Manufacturer	Thomas Fattorini Ltd, Birmingham, UK
Description	The original concept was inspired by the movie 'Bend it like Beckham' which portrays a Sikh girl who breaks traditions and plays football in a girls' team. The aspiration to bend the football around a defensive wall sparked the idea for the two upright curved supports holding up the globe in the shape of a football – a consistent feature amongst almost all of FIFA's event trophies. The overall elegant and pure appearance of the Official Trophy is characteristic of the nature of how the game is played in this women's age group.
Year of design and manufacture	2007
Material	Brass copper based alloy, sterling silver
Weight	5.1 kg
Height	46 cm
Base diameter	17 cm
